Royal Award for Almshouse Project

Manwood Orchard Almshouse Development receives Royal Patron Award

👤 Emily Robertson

📅 23rd October 2017

Woodley Coles are delighted to announce that The Sir Roger Manwood Trust has been awarded the Patron's Award from the Almshouse Association for the Manwood Orchard Almshouses Project. This is an award that recognises and encourages outstanding almshouse developments that respect their historic design and benefit the community.

Woodley Coles provided Quantity Surveying services for the Manwood Orchard Almshouses and worked closely alongside Clague Architects and other members of the design team to deliver the desired residential houses, in-keeping with the original 16th Century style of the surrounding area.
